WASHINGTON.

Chairman Carter Meets the President.

New Justice of the Supreme Court.

The President Disapproves the Depredations Bill.

No Doubt of an Agreement in Both Houses on the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 19.—[Associated Press.] Chairman Carter, of the Republican National committee arrived this morning and spent the day in consultation with the president, Secretary of War and prominent Republicans in and out of Congress. Carter has handed the president his resignation as chairman of the general land office. It is reported that ex-Representative McClellan, of Maryland, will be selected as secretary of the National committee.

The house judiciary committee today issued a favorable report on the resolution introduced by Scott of Illinois, regarding the attorney-general, in connection with the Cordage trust, etc., and whether he had information of such a character as will authorize the president to institute prosecution against the corporation.

The senate received a message from the president returning without his approval the bill to amend the act as to the removal of appeals in cases of land depredations.

The amendment increasing to $50,000 the appropriation for the government exhibit, has been non-concurred in by the senate, yeas, 129; nays, 65.

A message announcing the action of the senate on the sundry civil appropriation bill was laid before the senate, including the house provision relating to the Pinkerton detective force. Allison said in regard to the latter that he had no objection to its meeting the approval of the senate, but its phraseology might have to be modified and it should be in appropriate place. On his motion, therefore, an amendment was agreed to at the conference agreed to on the trade bill.

A supreme court justice.

The president has nominated George S. Sutherland, of Pennsylvania, to be justice of the supreme court. Sutherland is a leading member of the Pittsburgh bar. He was born in Pittsburgh 60 years ago. He was a member of the famous class of '34 at Yale. He was admitted to the bar in 1860. He has never held a public office nor served on the bench.

HONORS EVEN

After the meeting of the American Whist League.

New York, July 19.—[Associated Press.] Forty-six American whist clubs are represented here today at the second session of the American Whist League. In fact it is the largest gathering of the kind ever held in this country. While the congress is in session there will be a duplicate whist contest for a handsome silver trophy which is the gift of the Hamilton club of Philadelphia. The meetings are held in the Manhattan club rooms.

On Thursday night a subscription dinner will be given on the roof garden of the Manhattan club house. The famous Milwaukee Whist club is represented here as are clubs from Toledo, Cleveland, Detroit, Philadelphia, Atlanta, New Orleans, Pittsburgh, Brooklyn, and in fact from every city of note in the country.

During the session the American Whist League proposes to make a number of important changes in its constitution, which will make possibly a very decided increase in the membership.

There were forty-seven clubs scattered all over the United States in the American Whist League. The principal business before the congress is the perfection of a code of laws made in Milwaukee one year ago and a change in the constitution.

MISSOURI DEMOCRATS.

The Most Interesting Convention Ever Held in that State.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 19.—[Associated Press.] The Democratic state convention for the nomination of governor, lieutenant governor, auditor, treasurer, secretary of state, attorney general and railroad commissioner assembled here today. Five prominent Democrats are ready and willing to enter the lists against Major William Warner, the Republican nominee for governor. They are Richard Dalton, of Cass county; W. J. Stone, of Vernon county; James Gibson, of Jackson county; Dr. Pope Yeaman, of Boone county; and S. H. Claycomb, of Jasper county.

About 250 votes are claimed for Dalton and about 160 for Stone, although the Daltonites claim that their candidate will get there on the first ballot. Claycomb's friends say, however, that a deadlock will result between Stone, Dalton and Gibson and that either their candidate or Dr. Pope Yeaman will be the compromise candidate. The lieutenant-governorship will go to St. Louis, and Major B. O'Meara is backed by the solid delegation from that city. For the balance of the ticket it is a free-for-all scramble.

TO BE NOTIFIED.

Something Which Never Before Happened in this Country.

NEW YORK, July 19.—[Associated Press.] The city is crowded with all the well known Democratic politicians of the country today, and the corridors of the Fifth Avenue and the Hoffman present scenes very much like those during a National convention. All the members of the National committee are here now or will arrive during the day, and the notification committee is holding a meeting for the purpose of perfecting organization. The vice presidential candidate, Adlai E. Stevenson, is already in the city and is besieged by callers. Ex-President Cleveland leaves Gray Gables at Buzzard's Bay today and will arrive from Boston, to which place he first goes this afternoon or late this evening. Governor Russell, of the Bay state, and a number of intimate personal friends are expected to accompany him. The sub-committee has decided to ask Chairman Wilson to make the speech of notification although he is not very strong and a substitute may be asked for at the last minute. It is possible it will be Vilas of Wisconsin.

INVADING MINERS.

A Probability that Martial Law Will be Declared in Montana.

WALLACE, Ida., July 19.—[Associated Press.] A report to the effect that miners were coming from Montana, armed and resolved to assist the union miner in the Com d'Alene, has caused a movement of troops by General Carlin to check any such attempt. General Carlin and staff with three companies of infantry arrived here at 11 a. m. Colonel Page's command has been under arms and ready to move at a moment's notice. Saltee, Montana, is the objective point of the invading miners. Captain Babbs, with three companies, marched to Summit last night from Gem and holds the trail leading from from Saltee. The leader of this movement is Breen, who is president of the Butte union. Requisition papers have been sent to the governor of Montana, and it is probable he will soon be under arrest. He is and has been a leading agitator in the Com d'Alene troubles. Martial law may yet have to be declared in Montana, as the theater of operations of the troops will continue to be along the border line of that state. It is thought General Carlin will be perfectly able to cope with any armed body of men who may be deluded into making an invasion.

WHERE DO THEY GO?

A Question of Jurisdiction in the Com d'Alene Cases.

BOISE, Idaho, July 19.—[Associated Press.] Warrants for the arrest of the leaders in the Com d'Alene riots were issued this afternoon. The prisoners will probably be brought to Boise and the question of jurisdiction settled afterward. The offense charged is a violation of an injunction issued by the United States circuit court.

The bill dividing the state into divisions removes all business to the division in which it originated. Thus Com d'Alene business would go to Moscow if it should be transferred and it is the general opinion that it will be necessary that a special term of the United States circuit court be called if the cases go to Moscow, and this can only be called by Justice Field of the supreme court.

COUNTERACTING THE STEAL.

New York Republican Officers Standing on Their Rights.

ROCHESTER, July 19.—[Associated Press.] It is understood that the Republican leaders of New York state will begin their fight on the recent legislative re-appointment. It is said that the plan of fight will be a refusal on the part of the Monroe county judge to recognize the appointment which will compel the Democrats to test its validity in the supreme court. The judges meet today for the first time since the re-appointment, which involves all the senate and assembly districts of the state.

The Monroe county board of supervisors this morning, under advice of the New York member of the National Republican committee refused to make a reappointment of assembly districts, as provided for by the late Democratic legislature. This will probably be made a test case and will precipitate a hot political fight.

BLACK PEPPER.

The Dismal Failure of a Sacramento Diamond Thief.

SACRAMENTO, July 19.—[Associated Press.] A man named Eben Bent entered Klune & Flogberg's jewelry store today and asked to see some diamonds. A tray was set before him, and throwing a handful of black pepper into Klune's face he seized the tray and ran away. He was pursued and captured, and all the diamonds except one were recovered. The diamonds were valued at $2,000.

Rather Late.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 19.—Governor Pattison arrived this morning and was escorted by a detachment of cavalry from the depot through the pouring rain to Gen. Snowden's headquarters, while the cannon on the hill boomed a salute. The first shot caused the strikers to rush out into the rain, thinking another fight had begun.

CUT HIS THROAT.

How Bob Archer's Wife Fixed Him.

He Arrived Home Drunk But Found

He Had No "Edge" on the Partner of His Joys and Sorrows.

Who Drew a Deadly Carving Knife With Which She Monkeyed With His Jugular.

There came mighty near being a homicide or an uxoricide on Maricopa street just across from the city hall night before last.

Bob Archer, whom everybody knows, went home drunk and the fact that his wife had not at that particular hour been quite abstemious was to Bob's disadvantage. He was inclined to be quarrelsome and she was more than inclined to be resentful. He made an assault upon her and she seized a carving knife with which she struck him a blow on the left side of the throat. The knife just punctured the jugular and a fine spray of life's blood spouted out and kept on spurting.

Bob became sober enough to know that he was badly hurt and hurried to Dr. Helm's office. The wound was a neat one but at the same time a dangerous one; it was two and one-half inches in length and was so directed that it had invaded the numerous arteries and veins which protect the jugular at that point.

The puncture was finally dressed by sewing it with catgut upon whose strength Bob so confidently relied that he proceeded to get drunk again, to the great detriment of his throat. His wife stood outside and lamented that she hadn't cut deeper. Afterward, however, when she believed he was dying all her womanly and wife's instincts superceded the insanity of alcohol and she became almost crazed with grief.

Under ordinary circumstances, notwithstanding the dangerous character of the wound, the chances are in Archer's favor. If he remains sober and free from excitement he will likely develop into a useful member of society. A session of disipation though will surely provoke a rupture of the jugular and convert him into a cold, clammy and disagreeable corpse. His wife, pending the result of Mr. Archer's injuries, is penitent and miserable.

AS IF NOTHING HAD HAPPENED.

Just So It Work Being Resumed at Homestead.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 19.—[Associated Press.] An Associated Press reporter made a tour of the Homestead steel mills today, being the only newspaper man who has succeeded in gaining admission behind the great fence. He found about 150 men at work, most of them being new employees. Four furnaces in the armor plate department were charged today and a complete resumption in this department will take place tomorrow. The open hearth department and the mechanical department were also being worked, but in a desultory way.

The assistant superintendent is confident if the mill resumes operation successfully for a day or two, that many of the former employees will return. A large number of colored men arrived at Pittsburgh today and visited Mr. Frick. Their destination is surmised to be Homestead.

A RACE WAR.

Two White Men and an Alaska Indian Killed.

The Trouble Arose Over the Discharge of the Indians From the Large Canneries.

PORT TOWNSEND, July 19.—News from Chilkat, Alaska, July 8, was received today on the steamer City of Topeka, to the effect that a fatal encounter between Indians and the white men employed at the cannery occurred on July 5. Some of the Indians had been discharged from the cannery, and they in return disputed the rights of the white fishermen to fish on the Chilkat river. On June 24 a party of Indians concealed in the timber near the edge of the Chilkat river fired on the fishing steamer Lillian. Several loads of buckshot entered the pilot house, but no one was injured. On the fourth of July the feeling had to some extent been pacified. At an Indian dance a drunken white man kicked a squaw. The Indians were intoxicated, and started out on the warpath.

One young fellow, Joseph Myers, of Astoria, who was present or connected in the fight, rushed around to the cabins of the fishermen, arousing them from their slumbers, when he was fired upon by the Indians. He was struck below the heart and died three hours later. An incessant firing was kept up for several hours. Two white men were injured, and one of whom was taken to Juneau for treatment and will probably die. One Indian was killed outright and several wounded. A truce was finally declared and the battle stopped. The feeling is intense and a fresh outbreak is expected at any moment. The superintendent of the cannery went at once to Sitka to confer with Governor Knapp and ask for assistance. The governor had, however, left on the Mohican a week previous for a month's cruise along the western shore of Alaska. The revenue cutter Pinta had also gone away for a brief cruise. There was no way to send aid to the cannery men. The steamer Chilkat is expected to arrive from Alaska tomorrow with further news.

BISMARCK GIVES UP.

The Friends of the Ex-Chancellor on the Run.

LONDON, July 19.—[Associated Press.] The Berlin correspondent of the Times telegraphs to his paper as follows, in regard to the Bismarck controversy: "The Bismarckians are beginning to realize that their grand attack on the government has failed. The Deutsches Wehrenblatt, a Bismarck paper, has long been a long appeal for peace and goodwill with an allusion to the right of clemency as the noblest ornament of the crown. When Prince Bismarck, who always has asserted he has done no wrong and has nothing to regret or withdraw, is classed by his own friends among those for whom the mercy of the crown can be invoked, it may be assumed that the worst of the fight is over."

MUTINY AND PIRACY.

A Terrible Story of Murder on High Seas.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—[Associated Press.] A Yokohama paper prints an account of a terrible case of piracy and murder on the high seas. It says that several months ago the schooner Undine sailed for a cruise among the South Sea Islands with a crew of eight men besides a mate and Capt. Costello. At Honolulu a man who was introduced as the mate's brother, joined the vessel. About three days out from Honolulu the mate and his brother shot the captain while the latter was in his cabin, and afterwards killed the supercargo, who discovered the crime. The crew was called aft and the mate gave them poisoned liquor and all were killed except the steward, who was given a bribe of $1,000 to keep quiet. The schooner then shipped a new crew of natives at one of the islands and sailed for Ascension Island. There the steward revealed the crime to the authorities, who arrested the mate and his brother and sent them to Manila in irons.

No such schooner as the Undine is owned in San Francisco or has sailed from this port. There is a schooner of that name owned in Portland, Or., by J. T. Gray.

M. DUVAL ET FILS

A Frenchman and Son of Paris, France.

Will Soon Establish an Immense Brewery

In the Salt River Valley Near the City of Phoenix.

The Water of the River by Analysis Has Been Found to Be Equal to the Best in the World.

Mr. A. J. Porterie yesterday received a letter from Duval & Son, brewers at Grenelle, a suburb of Paris, France, in which they stated that they intended to make immediate arrangements for the establishment of a brewery here.

The elder Mr. Duval was here last February. He is an invalid and left France for America on the advice of his physicians on account of pulmonary trouble. After arriving in New York he was directed to various parts of the country without experiencing any decided relief until he had reached the Salt River valley.

He remained in Phoenix for a considerable length of time, during which he enjoyed all the winter balminess of lovely France and the same time enjoyed a respite from what he had believed to be the grasp of death. He decided then that he would become a resident of Arizona and with the proverbial fragility of the Frenchman he began looking about to discover how he could better his financial as well as his physical condition.

Here was grown the barley, hops and all the ingredients of the foaming beer, but something else must always be taken into consideration in the manufacture of beer. Grain and hops are alike all the world over but within a few hundred miles there is likely to be and nearly always is a vast difference in the quality of water which seems to affect more than the difference of skill the quality of beer. The Germans who established the numerous breweries at Milwaukee and St. Louis did so more with reference to the quality of the water obtainable than with regard to the facilities of obtaining grain, hops, and altogether without regard to the prospective markets for their productions.

Without means of ascertaining if the water here was of the proper quality Mr. Duval took samples of both the canal water and that obtained from wells in the city. He analyzed this carefully and took it with him to France, where a few weeks ago it was submitted to a careful analysis. The water from the wells was found to be of an inferior character for the purpose of the manufacture of beer but the canal and Salt River water was found by a comparative analysis to be quite like the water which supplies the great breweries at Strasbourg.

So he writes he has fully determined to return to Arizona and establish breweries not second in importance to those of St. Louis and Milwaukee. He will endeavor to make an arrangement with the Arizona canal company by which he can be supplied with water not only as an ingredient but for the purpose of supplying power.

Mr. Duval will soon leave for America to carry out the plan which he has formulated and it is safe to believe that within the next two or three years that among Arizona's chief enterprises will be that of Duval & Co.

GOVERNOR MURPHY RECALLED.

His Unexpected Return to the City this Morning.

Governor Murphy will return to the city this morning quite unexpectedly. He left for the east a week ago to negotiate the sale of the territorial bonds and did not expect to return before August. He recently left Prescott but was recalled before he reached Albuquerque on account of the coming up of certain territorial matters which were not taken into contemplation when he went away. It is said that the affairs which recalled him are not of great importance but that they demand his presence.

No further intimation of their character could be offered until after the arrival of the governor.

The cash in the treasury of Yuma county is exhausted. For the balance of the year the business of the county will be run on "jaw bone,"—Yuma Sentinel.

Truth is Mighty.

Yesterday a select few witnessed a funny episode in one of the fashionable saloons of the city. A prominent wholesale liquor dealer and a gentleman who is engaged in retailing beer at the new popular price became engaged in a controversy as to whether the wholesaler was shipping beer into Phoenix at a profit. The final result was that a wager of $10 was made between the parties that the wholesaler was not making a profit on his shipments. Adjournment was had to the wholesale house on Center street and there the invoices showed conclusively that the wholesaler was right.

The loser at once went to his place of business and in a few minutes returned with a $10-piece in his hand, remarked to a friend as he entered the Center-street establishment: "See! I lose $10 because I am the first man to catch — telling the truth."

A HORSE THIEF

Taken Last Night After a Search.

Extending Over a Period of Three Months.

And a Considerable Part of Arizona and New Mexico.

A Detailed Account of His Wanderings and the Means Employed to Capture Him.

The arrest of Ernest Stedman last night was the culmination of a good piece of detective work by Marshal Blankenship extending over a period of three months.

Some time last April a valuable stallion was stolen in Yavapai county, and it was believed that Stedman had concealed him. Soon after that Stedman left the country and the authorities notified Marshal Blankenship and gave him pointers by which he might connect Stedman with the theft. It turned out that Stedman did not come here but went to New Mexico. He is a jockey and the marshal, having learned this, traced him along the course of the circuit to Albuquerque, Silver City, through Lake county and to Socorro, Thore, it is said, he stole another horse.

Recently he came to Mesa and though his whereabouts were well known it was still difficult to show that he had stolen the stallion. Last Friday he came to the city in search of work and that he might more easily keep him under surveillance the marshal got him a job having in the meantime located the stolen horse. He at once notified the Yavapai authorities by wire, and pending their action kept a close watch upon Stedman.

Yesterday Stedman drove the Mesa stage out and the marshal seeing how easily he might escape if he once took alarm determined to arrest him on information and suspicion immediately upon his return. It appears though that Stedman was not suspicious and when he returned last night he was met by the marshal who broke the news to him as gently as possible but took him in all the same. He was turned over to the county authorities and the Yavapai officials were notified of the arrest. The horse is also cared at the Monihan corral.

A KIDNAPING.

Jesus Arbizo Takes His Undivided Half

Without any Preconcerted Arrangement With His Wife, Who Claims Everything.

A rather interesting case came before Justice Huson yesterday morning.

Jesus Arbizo had been arrested at the instance of his wife, Francesca, for assault and kidnaping. The story of their unfortunate matrimonial relations was developed in the course of the examination.

They were married six years ago and have two children, the eldest of whom is four, the other two years. For some time their relations have been strained and day before yesterday they mutually agreed to separate. Jesus determined to make a fair division of the children and accordingly took the elder to the home of his brother. The motherly instinct of his wife revolted against this apparently equitable arrangement and the trouble ensued out of which grew the arrest of Jesus.

Constable Hi McDonald brought in all the parties interested and the child in dispute. Jesus finally consented to give up the child, quietly in case the matter against him should be dismissed. This was readily acceded to by the prosecuting witness, who triumphantly carried away with her both children.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MARRIAGE.

And a Serious Question as to Its Binding Qualities.

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 19.—A few months ago Dr. A. W. Wells came to San Jose and quietly took an office in the Stone building and hung out his shingle. In the building at the time were Mrs. Kinney and her fair daughter.

Mrs. Kinney is still there, but her daughter has gone with the dashing doctor. About two months ago Miss Kinney formally surrendered the citadel of her heart, and in the orthodox manner she was christened Mrs. Wells.

The couple started immediately for Utah on a wedding tour. They have not yet returned, but the mother of the girl has since acquired some valuable information, which resulted in her telegraphing to a woman in Los Angeles with the result that Chief Delaney lately received a letter from Mrs. Wells of Los Angeles stating that she had received information that her husband, Dr. A. W. Wells, had lately been married. The missive set forth that the doctor had been married to her in Pasadena on the 3d of September, 1890, by a Christian Science doctor.

For one year they lived together, at the expiration of which period he cruelly deserted her, but they have never been divorced. The chief made some investigations and found the facts to be as represented.

The only question is whether or not the first marriage was legal. It is understood that Mrs. Wells No. 2 was aware of the circumstances of his first marriage, but did not consider it legally binding.

Safe From Indignant Subjects.

BORDEAUX, July 19.—Rainmond Indonza Palacio set foot on European soil yesterday. It was on board the French Transatlantique company's steamer Labrador that the exiled president of Venezuela came to France, accompanied by his wife, son, daughter, a niece, and wife, including two secretaries and the editor of the Opinion Nationale of Caracas.

Johnstone, was appointed to solicit contributions of fruit and make other arrangements for the establishment of the headquarters at Denver, as has been proposed.

Judge Lighthouse was formally delegated to represent the commandery at the convocation. He will leave tonight for Tucson on business connected with the commandery. He will go from there to Los Angeles on legal business and will return to Phoenix in time to leave for the convocation.

MRS. HARRISON'S CONDITION.

A Report That She is Dying Denied at Washington.

WASHINGTON, July
